

Moreton & Company, Idaho School Boards Association Collaborate to Help Provide SafeSchools.com to all School Districts in Idaho

Cincinnati, OH -- August 5, 2009 – Moreton & Company, the leading provider of property & liability insurance coverage for school districts in Idaho, and the Idaho School Boards Association (ISBA) have come together to help provide the SafeSchools.com online training system to school districts across the state of Idaho.

Many Idaho school districts have already successfully implemented online safety training with the SafeSchools program.

“It is sometimes difficult to determine the types of safety courses to offer district-wide that meet the needs of all personnel, but SafeSchools fits the bill,” says Sanie Baker of the Minidoka County School District. “Whether it is new information or a review, our staff appreciates the variety of topics offered. Even though our district has participated in this program for several years, we have found the information to be updated and relevant.”

One of the many benefits of online training is the amount of time that can be saved each year. School districts can easily stay compliant with annual training requirements and still have time to expand into other important issues. This can prove to be extremely valuable when it comes to risk management and loss control.

“Moreton & Company is always looking for ways to provide our clients with exceptional, yet cost-effective risk management solutions. SafeSchools is an ideal choice for the school districts we serve because they have a proven track record for enhancing safety and compliance training for school staff members,” reports Allan Ranstrom, Senior Vice President of Moreton & Company.

In addition to the benefits that are inherent with online training, teachers also have the opportunity to earn professional development credit through an affiliation with Idaho State University.

SafeSchools serves over 1,600 districts across the country and has formed partnerships with an increasing number of insurance and workers' compensation providers in the K12 market.

“Your training program is only as good as your content,” says Brian Taylor, CEO of Scenario Learning, publisher of SafeSchools. “Our continued success is largely attributable to working with nationally-renowned expert authors to publish courses that are 100% school-focused.”

SafeSchools (www.safeschools.com) is a product of Scenario Learning, a publishing company in Cincinnati, Ohio specializing in safety, health and compliance resources. Other Scenario Learning programs include SafeColleges, SchoolMSDS, and the LiveTip anonymous tip line.
